In order to achieve this, the company establishes as its environmental policy continuous improvement in the implementation of good environmental practices, complying with regulations and ensuring that they in turn comply.

The guidelines are as follows:

- To comply with all environment-related legal requirements, as well as with the voluntary environmental requirements to which our organisation subscribes.
- To continuously improve our environmental conduct and the development of processes in our environmental management system.
- To prevent pollution associated with our activities.
- To minimise the production of waste derived from our work.
- To identify, correctly separate, and manage waste generated at our facilities.
- Prevent and manage spillages of products during their usage.

An annual training related to environmental management will be given to staff regarding the manipulation of substances likely to emit volatile organic compounds, and action to be taken in the event of emergency related to potential soil contamination.
